"Full measures indeed of love and suffering...and bloodshed too: Fans will sail through and clamor for more." — Kirkus I have not attempted to write an earlier review of the Mortal Instruments series simply because I had nothing nice to say. While I adored Clockwork Angel and, despite the stark similarities between Will Herondale and Jace Lightwood, I still preferred the former to the latter. Will's superiority complex seemed out of place and ridiculously adorable in a Victorian setting whereas Jace was just plain annoying.And this is why I have decided to review The City of Lost Souls, book number five in the Mortal Instruments series - because for the first time I'm actually caring a little bit about Jace.In this book the bizarre just gets more bizarre. It picks up where City of Fallen Angels left off and Jace has disappeared, along with the supposedly dead body of Clary's brother Jonathan (or Sebastian, call him what you will). The story then follows the complete freaking out of Jace's adoptive family, and of course Clary. This then extends to the outer circle as Simon wants to help, Clary and Magnus want to help, Alec and the werewolves join in but I don't know why they care unless they, unlike me, really loved Jace who probably told them all he was ten times hotter than them in every way!My favourite characters really pick up on their threads here and Clare draws them out little by little, making them almost four dimensional, which I love her for.[Spoiler] There was in particular, the scene with Simon and his sister where I broke down and cried - it really tugs on them heartstrings. [Spoiler end]Which brings us to Jace...Although I said it was Jace I started to care about, I think it is mainly due to Sebastian - who I want to call Jonathan so there - and his magical 'connection' to our blonde hero. Clare takes both boys; one dark and the other light and moulds them into one person which brings out the light in Jonathan and the dark in Jace in strikingly realistic ways. I'd say that Jonathan is one of the most well written villains since Tom Riddle? Yes? Maybe!If you haven't checked out the series, now's the time! And I am looking forward to reading Clare's next series, set in Los Angeles as well, the 'hero' of the story makes an appearance in City of Lost Souls and the chemistry between him and me was instant!9/10 I♥m actually caring a little bit about Jace. What price is too high to pay, even for love? Plunge into fifth installment in the internationally bestselling Mortal Instruments series and "prepare to be hooked" (Entertainment Weekly)—now with a gorgeous new cover, a map, a new foreword, and exclusive bonus content! City of Lost Souls is a Shadowhunters novel.When Jace and Clary meet again, Clary is horrified to discover that the demon Lilith's magic has bound her beloved Jace together with her evil brother Sebastian, and that Jace has become a servant of evil. The Clave is out to destroy Sebastian, but there is no way to harm one boy without destroying the other. As Alec, Magnus, Simon, and Isabelle wheedle and bargain with Seelies, demons, and the merciless Iron Sisters to try to save Jace, Clary plays a dangerous game of her own. The price of losing is not just her own life, but Jace's soul. She's willing to do anything for Jace, but can she still trust him? Or is he truly lost? Love. Blood. Betrayal. Revenge. Darkness threatens to claim the Shadowhunters in the harrowing fifth book of the Mortal Instruments series. Repackaged Original/Hardback Simon & Schuster (Margaret K. McElderry Books) Alec Lightwood (paperback)Jace & Clary (hardcover) Released after Released before Clockwork Prince Clockwork Princess City of Lost Souls is the fifth novel in The Mortal Instruments series by Cassandra Clare. Description The demon, Lilith, has been destroyed and Jace has been freed from her captivity. But when the Shadowhunters arrive to rescue him, they find only blood and broken glass. Not only is the boy Clary loves missing, but so is the boy she hates, Sebastian, the son of her father, Valentine: a son determined to succeed where their father failed and bring the Shadowhunters to their knees. No magic the Clave can summon can locate either boy, but Jace cannot stay away - not from Clary. When they meet again Clary discovers the horror Lilith's dying magic has brought - Jace is no longer the boy she loved. He and Sebastian are now bound to each other, and Jace has become what he most feared: a true servant of Valentine's evil. The Clave is determined to destroy Sebastian, but there is no way to harm one boy without destroying the other. Will the Shadowhunters hesitate to kill one of their own? Only a small band of Clary and Jace's friends and family believe that Jace can still be saved - and that the fate of the Shadowhunters' future may hinge on that salvation. They must defy the Clave and strike out on their own. Alec, Magnus, Simon and Isabelle must work together to save Jace: bargaining with the sinister Seelie Queen, contemplating deals with demons, and turning at last to the Iron Sisters, the reclusive and merciless weapons makers for the Shadowhunters, who tell them that no weapon on this Earth can sever the bond between Sebastian and Jace. Their only chance of cutting Jace free is to challenge Heaven and Hell - a risk that could claim any, or all, of their lives. And they must do it without Clary. For Clary has gone into the heart of darkness, to play a dangerous game utterly alone. The price of losing the game is not just her own life, but Jace's soul. She's willing to do anything for Jace, but can she even still trust him? Or is he truly lost? What price is too high to pay, even for love? The repackaged (paperback) cover features Alec Lightwood with his bow and arrow drawn and a "Courage in Combat" rune behind him. The models for Clary (Halle Arbaugh) and Jace (Judson "Fabio" Birza) on the book cover both reprised their roles for the book trailers of City of Lost Souls and City of Heavenly Fire. Birza was also the model for the repackaged US cover of City of Bones,[1] and Arbaugh for the original covers of City of Fallen Angels and City of Heavenly Fire. In the trailer, Valentine and Sebastian Morgenstern were played by Johnathan Vane and Chris Schellenger respectively. The book is told from several points of views, namely: Clary, Jace, Simon, Sebastian, Alec, Isabelle, Luke, Jocelyn, Maryse, Magnus, Maia, and Jordan's. In this book, Jace finds a copy of A Tale of Two Cities with a faded inscription signed by "William Herondale"; this is the same book Will gave Tessa Gray in Clockwork Princess, though Will was said to have signed it with just "Will Herondale".
